

The image displays four identical sets of musical staves, arranged vertically. Each set consists of two systems of three staves. The top system of each set is enclosed in a large right-facing curly bracket on the left side. The staves are empty, providing a template for musical notation.